DE JAGER'S GOLD MEDAL TULIPS

We make a great Speciality of Tulips

Tulips belong to the most beautiful of Spring Flowers. Graceful and of impressive beauty they provide a brilliant colour display in the garden for at least two months in succession. Tulips are of easy culture as they are quite hardy and free flowering in either a sunny or shady situation.

A careful selection of varieties is advised to ensure a continuous flowering period. Kaufmanniana Tulips and other Rare Tulip Species bring a gay colour riot in the rockery or border when Narcissi are almost over. Early in April, the Single Early Tulips are in bloom, celebrating with fine colours the arrival of a new season. A little later the Early Double Tulips attract the attention with their colourful and peony-like flowers, Mendel and Triumph Tulips with their long stems, vigorous habit and wonderful shades are the finishing touch of April. In a wide range of shades, self-colours and bi-colours they give brilliancy to the garden when flowers are needed to bridge the interval until May.

All through May, Darwin, Cottage, Lily Flowering, Parrot, Breeder and Double Late Tulips are in bloom at almost the same time or in this succession. They give a parade of brilliant colours from pure white to almost black, from softest pink to deepest purple, all on splendid stems and with great alterations in form.

All Tulips are extremely useful for the garden and bring gaiety, pleasure and satisfaction.

Collections of Tulips: We offer in this catalogue very fine Collections of all different sections of Tulips which are carefully chosen and assembled to give entire satisfaction in your garden, border or for plantings anywhere around your home. The easiest to grow, distinct and dependable varieties are selected to produce a harmonious display of balanced beauty in a full range of colours. Each variety is separately packaged and correctly labelled. All bulbs are choice selected varieties of top size. Anyone not familiar with names of Tulips may order de Jager's Collections with every confidence. Notice that this ensures considerable saving.

Outdoor Planting: Plant Tulips in groups of 6 or 12 to make a good display in the border or bed, 6 in. apart and 4 in. deep. They can be planted in autumn until severe frosts set in. Tulips thrive well in any type of soil but if heavy, add some sand. Well cultivated and well drained soil is important. Dig soil before planting and do not leave Tulips in the same place some years in succession, unless the soil has been removed and replaced with fresh at a depth of at least one foot. Inattention to this matter is often the cause of failure with Tulips. Never allow any part of the dead foliage or flower to drop on the ground. These parts may carry diseases and may infect the soil. Only use well decayed and old manure.

For Forcing: Early Tulips (single and double) including Mendel Tulips are suitable for the earliest forcing, while Darwin and Triumph Tulips are for late forcing. After planting and plunging the Tulips it will take at least 10-12 weeks, before the shoots and sprouts are high enough for them to be brought into a dark room at a temperature of 55-60 F. thus allowing the stems to lengthen. After 10 days to two weeks the Tulips can be removed into a light warm room. For a few days, the bulbs should be covered with some paper before exposing to the full light. Tulips should never be hurried and bottom heat and draught should be avoided. Generally speaking, Amateurs should never bring in the bulbs, until the shoots are 3 to 4 in. high and after the middle of January.

Origin: The first time Tulips were ever mentioned was in 1554, when Busbequius found a few specimen near Constantinople. Six years later, Carolus Clusius brought some of these Tulips to Holland and in 1601 he described 19 varieties in full detail and added 5 pictures. Dodoneaeus wrote about Tulips in his Kruydtboek 1618 and made three different sections. Most of the Tulips had broken colours and this was considered very fashionable. In 1634-1637, during the Tulipmania, fantastic prices were paid for bulbs, e.g. 1 Semper Augustus $ 2200.-, weight 2000 aces. The bulbs were sold per 'ace', one ounce is 5900 aces and a good Tulip bulb weighs now 7000 aces.

Darwin Tulips

(May-flowering)

We confidently recommend this late-flowering section of self coloured Tulips with their stately bearing and rich colours. They deserve universal attention and are most valuable in the garden, borders etc. because of their brilliant colours and their long upright stems. The Darwins flower after the Triumph Tulips and are excellent for cutting, just at the time when most spring flowers are over and there is scarcity of flowers. As cut-flowers they are decorative in vases and last a long time in water.

Origin: A collection of Tulips imported from the North of France by Messrs. Krelage & Son at Haarlem. The actual origin is not known, but they were offered and brought into circulation in 1889, when they caused a real sensation, because of their long stems and fine colours.

For Forcing: Varieties marked with an asterisk (*) are suitable for late forcing and they should never be forced in too high a temperature and should be watered moderately. Darwin Tulips cannot be had in flower much before February, with the exception of the varieties Wm. Copland and Rose Copland which may be brought into the greenhouse for gentle forcing about the end of December.

Mendel Tulips

(Mid-Season)

This type owes its particular value to the fact that it has contracted the glorious colours and the astounding value for the garden of the Darwin Tulips and the earliness of Duc van Tholl. They are of excellent habit and beauty and flower in the garden 10 to 14 days earlier than Darwins, thus bridging the interval between Single Early and Triumph Tulips. Most varieties can be forced early quite easily. Forcing: After the rooting period they may be exposed at once to the full light, contrary to all other Tulips which should be started in the dark. If for some reason the height is not obtained and bulbs are found to be lazy, they should be kept in the dark for a few days to encourage the sprouts to lengthen.

COLLECTIONS OF MENDEL TULIPS

These collections of Mendel Tulips are made up of such varieties that are particularly suitable for pot and bowl culture for flowering in the later part of January. They are, of course, also suitable for planting outdoors.

Broken Tulips

Daffodils and Narcissi

The beauty of Daffodils and Narcissi is unquestioned and these flowers now form a leading feature in almost every spring garden. Every gardener should realize the enormous amount of intense pleasure that can so easily be obtained from the cultivation of a batch of Daffodils or Narcissi.

Naturalizing Daffodils and Narcissi in Grass etc. All Daffodils and Narcissi are suitable for naturalizing but in very heavy soils, preference should be given to stronger growing sorts e.i. Trumpet varieties and many Large Cupped sorts. They are all admirably adaptable for grassy slopes and banks, where they should be freely planted. A splendid effect is obtained when Trumpet and other varieties are grouped separately, scattered on the ground and planted where they fall.

Soil and its Treatment. Daffodils and Narcissi will thrive in any well cultivated and drained garden soil. In preparing the ground for planting, dig deeply and if well rotted stable or cow manure is available this may advantageously be dug in 18 to 20 inches deep so as not to come into immediate contact with the bulbs. Never use fresh manure of any kind at planting time. On poor and dry sandy soils we recommend a dressing of sulphate of potash at a rate of about 1 oz. per square yard to be sprinkled over the surface of the ground after planting.

Growing Daffodils in the greenhouse or indoors. All types of Daffodils and Narcissi are suitable for this purpose. Pot up the bulbs on arrival and if ordinary pots are used take a good loamy soil, adding sufficient sand and peat to keep the mixture open. A light dusting of bone meal is also useful. Pot firmly in well crocked pots. For bowls without drainage holes use a good fibre. Plunge the pots and/or bowls in the coolest place of your garden and in the absence of garden space the pots may be placed in a cool cellar (35–40° F) where watering from time to time is necessary. When the shoots are about 4 inches long and the flower buds well out of the neck of the bulbs, the pots may be removed into a warm room. Heat should be gradually increased from 50° to max. 60° F.

It is advisable to remove the foliage of the sideshoots, if these do not show a flower bud. Just before the buds are open, water should be spread lightly over the buds, when they are in bloom less water should be applied.

Revised System for the Classification of Daffodils, in use since January 1, 1950.

The whole Genus is now classified in eleven Divisions as follows:

Ia. Yellow Trumpets – Ib. Bicolor Trumpets – Ic. White Trumpets – IIa. Large-Cupped, yellow perianth, coloured cup or corona – IIb. Large-Cupped, white perianth, coloured cup or corona – IIc. Each year, on the occasion of the great Daffodil Show of the Royal Horticultural Society, London, England, twenty daffodil experts take part in ballots of Daffodil varieties suitable for a particular purpose. We thought it to be a good idea to re-print the 1959 ballot of the best Varieties for Exhibition from each Division, while this may be of special interest to those who take part in Daffodil Competition Shows. All these varieties are also most suitable for the garden.

Hyacinths

The best hand-picked quality, choice bulbs selected from healthy stocks, adapted for Bowls, Pots, Glasses and for Exhibition. We include only valuable varieties in our Collections.

CULTURE IN POTS

Hyacinths should be potted early in September for Christmas flowering and every fortnight thereafter for succession. Plunge pots in the coolest place of the garden, or place in a dark, cool cellar. After three or four months, remove to the forcing house as required, but care should always be taken that the bulbs are well rooted and the buds well out of the neck of the bulbs before beginning to force, as successful cultivation depends almost completely on these points. To keep the foliage dwarf and to assist the perfect colouring of the flowers, they should have occasionally a supply of liquid manure during the growing period. Always use clean old pots.

HYACINTHS ON GLASSES

This old-fashioned way is in favour again now that the proper glasses are on the market. Fill the glass with water (rainwater preferred) almost to touch the base of the bulbs. A few pieces of charcoal should be put in the glass, as this keeps the water clean. The next procedure is the simple one of placing the glasses in any dark cool room, cellar or cupboard until the sprouts are about 3 inches high, then they may be brought gradually to the full light. Although this system of culture is very simple, it is of first importance that the largest size bulbs are obtained.

OUTDOOR CULTURE

For successful cultivation in the open air, Hyacinths may be planted any time from September to December. September and October are the best months; they like a light rich soil, the ground should be well drained. Plant the bulbs at equal distances apart in circles or in straight lines and about 5 inches deep. Never plant the bulbs when the ground is wet. They require a little covering of straw or a thin layer of leaves during the winter to protect them from frost.

Large Dutch Crocus

When planted two or three inches apart in squares, the many flowers each bulb produces will thickly cover the whole plot. Planted in lawns and grass they are extremely effective. They are also very fine for forcing but should be brought on slowly in an airy situation. Crocuses should not be planted too deeply and can be left undisturbed for years.

COLLECTIONS OF CROCUS

Something very attractive to have in bloom in pots during winter is a collection of our choice large flowered Crocus. Plant thickly in pots immediately on receipt and plunge the pots in peat fibre or ashes. Crocuses cannot stand artificial heat and should be grown as cool as possible and given water freely when removed from the plunging bed. If the temperature is too high they will go blind. These collections can, of course, also be used for more liberal plantings in the garden.

Irises (Bulbous Rooted)

It would be difficult to name any other hardy bulbs that repay the trouble of cultivation better than the Iris. Their blossoms compete in richness and variety of colours with the choicest and most beautiful of Orchids. They are most easy to cultivate and succeed splendidly in almost any soil. As cut-flowers they are particularly useful as the blooms last well if cut when the buds are opening.

Double Peonies

HOLLAND GROWN STURDY YOUNG ROOTS WITH 3 TO 5 EYES

Ready for shipment in November

Culture: Peonies will thrive in a sunny or partly shaded place in well dug, deep and rich soil, they should be set so that the eyes are definitely not below two inches under surface of soil. Do not plant Peonies where Peonies have been planted before, unless all the old earth has been removed and fresh earth substituted. Never use fresh manure, use bone-meal or decayed manure in early spring as a top dressing. The Peony detests having its ground invaded by tree roots, they like moisture, specially in hot and dry summers. Peonies take some time to become established, but once established they provide a glorious display of blooms.

The number following each name is the rating for quality and habit.
